FIELD NOTES

In a fairly rare scenario for a junior championship where winners usually quickly age out, the VSGA Junior Girls' Championship will feature three past champions in 2025, despite defending champion Kathryn Ha not playing. Addie Doroh (2021) and Elsie MacCleery (2022) will make their final appearances in the event before heading to play Division I golf, Doroh at Richmond and MacCleery (pictured) at Virginia. Macie Rasmussen, who didn't defend her 2023 title last year, is back this year. All three will look to become the first two-time Junior Girls' champion since Victoria Tip-Aucha won in 2016 and 2017.

- Three players inside the top 150 of the AJGA national girls' rankings will participate: Anne Sophie Bourgault (16), Raquel Walker (118), and Rasmussen (136).
- Walker teamed up with Alisa Davidova for the U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball Championship, advanced to match play, and won their round of 32 match before bowing out in the round of 16.
- Walker, who is in the class of 2026, has committed to play at Virginia Tech. Older sister Melanie plays at Missouri.
- Bourgault, who is in the class of 2026, recently moved to Virginia from Florida and is committed to play golf at Indiana.
- Grace Anne Haggerty recently won the Richmond Women's City Amateur.
- Doroh tied for second at the Women's Open of Virginia, held June 23-25 at Farmington Country Club, posting rounds of 71-71-75 to finish four strokes behind champion Kennedy Swedick of the University of Virginia.
- Emerson Roychoudhury qualified for the U.S. Girls' Junior last year.

USGA EXEMPTION EVENT

The winner of the VSGA Junior Girls' Championship will earn automatic qualification into the U.S. Girls' Junior, to be held July 14-19 at Atlanta Athletic Club. Last year, Kathryn Ha used this exemption to make a run to the round of 16 of the championship.
